Summary

Question

Individual

What do you think about having a dedicated social group to organise social events and community activities for the Croham Valley residents?

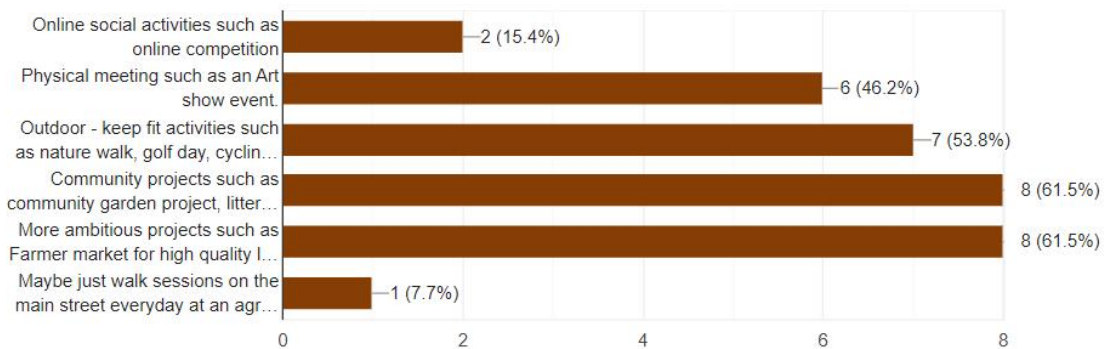

13 responses

Social activities idea

What kind of social activities would you like to see?

13 responses

How would you like us to organise the activities you selected?

13 responses

Via Next Door group

On line

Through committees

Evolve the locals, gather businesses from the local area to see what we all have to offer, set up groups to share info neighbourhood safety, could potentially use the space by the entrance to littleheath for markets with permission from littleheath team.

Farmer's market would be welcomed as there are no greengrocers in Croydon

Next Door app seems to work well

As a starting point have them put forward on this forum. Once any specific group could have another group name , with notifications within this group?)

Some of them.

Get someone from each road interested/ on board to get them to then bring in other neighbours to spread the workload. Start with a leaflet drop with info on where groups are (Facebook page for example)
Get a meeting in the diary to get people to meet up face to face to discuss up and coming projects/ activities

Regarding farmers market we could use road on Chapel View where shops are. Picking up litter or garden project we could promote through Nextdoor or leaflets.

Not good on ideas sorry!!!

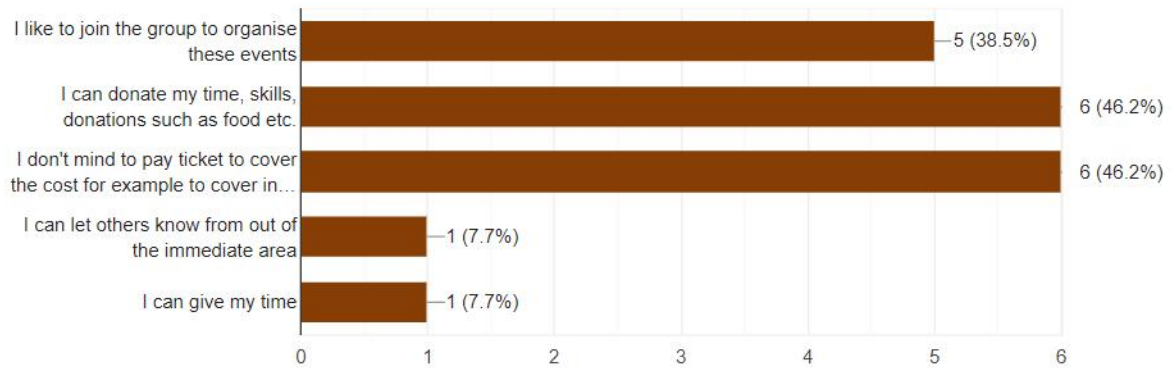

Art show - appoint a leader to drum up works for sale, find venue, agree sales split artist/RA
Could expand activities to include dance for all ages. Venue - Old Whits?
Litter pick - appoint marshal who mans a base, issues gloves, bags and picker sticks. Could be combined with nature walk in Littleheath woods.

Perhaps have a brainstorm for type of events, how serious versus fun they could be and frequency. People could then sign up to what interests them. I realise organising events can be a pretty thankless task!

If we have a dedicated social group to organise events for our community, how would you be able to help this group?
